

Trump and the american dream!
the question is:
"To be or not to be somebody's Huckleberry"

He promised to follow her to the end of all dreams

The USA organised it

(without fear or knowledge)

That's how it works
Like in 1864

It's all about semantics, market value, economy, stupid!
and more

like a living paradox, nightmare, a wake up call to the old truth, that it's impossible for the same man to swim twice in the same river

The american dream will never be the same

The final disappointment
